The All Metal Products company was organized in 1920 for the purpose of manufacturing automobile parts. In the Fall of 1921 it was decided to manufacture toy guns. Arthur W. Edwards, and Harry Tucker became interested in the Corporation and over the active management, Mr. Tucker resigned in the early part of 1925. Mr. Edwards became president and general manager and he remained at the head of the corporation until the time of his death in August 1932. He was succeeded by his son C. Lee Edwards, president and Charles A. Brethen, secretary, who has been in the management of the company since that time.

From the beginning of the corporation until 1929, the company manufactured pop guns and air rifles exclusively, and have for the past ten years been the largest manufacturer of play guns in the world. In 1930 the company produced over five million five hundred thousand guns. In 1930 the company developed and added a line of steel-stamped pull toys, such as airplanes, automobiles, trains, vacuum cleaners, and dollbug,

Sales are Heavy.

Orders of nearly 100,000 of these planes came into the office in just one day. It is understood. Production so far is only about 2,000 per day. But this production will be speeded up as the new plant recently completed by the company, gets under way, say officials.

Speeding up of production however will not be sufficient and the addition of several extra presses or stamping machines will be necessary if the company is to meet the demand.

This top airplane is an exact model of the Lockhead-Vega a product of the Detroit Aircraft Corporation. one of which was used to cross the ocean by Miss Amelia Earhart. It is made of steel throughout and is sturdy and handsome. In other words it is not merely another toy airplane but it is a miniature production of the real thing.

Buyers Enthusiastic

Everywhere it is shown, buyers are enthusiastic for the item. It seems. Sales are made to grown ups as well as children. Big executives order them for their desks, and congressmen buy them for their offices.

The new factory of the All Metal Products corporation is located on Labadie street, at the railroad, and covers about one block of territory. Production started the middle of this month, and is gradually increasing daily as machinery and operators are put to work.

The company, which made its reputation by the manufacture of toy pop guns, reports a large demand for the many models of this item also, and the company will have to increase its capacity in this department as well.
